Response to Amendment

1. Applicant's request for reconsideration of the finality of the rejection of the last Office action is persuasive and, therefore, the finality of that action is withdrawn.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

2. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

3. Claims 1-5 and 7-16 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Bohrer et al. (4,548,078) in view of Landis et al. (4,672,997) (hereinafter Bohrer or Landis). The detailed rejection not found in this office action should be reviewed in the prior office action. Bohrer teaches all the features of the instant invention including the two housing structures and the sensor chip mounted between the two housing structures. Bohrer indicates the two housing portions are sealably mounted but not specifically indicating as to how they are sealingly bonded. It may be glued or welded. Landis teaches two housing portions sealed together using an "O-ring" (36) (Fig. 3). It would have been obvious to a person having ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to provide a sealing ring such as an "O-ring" since it is notoriously well known to provide a sealing mechanism between two housing elements where a leakage is possible. To avoid leakage one having ordinary skill in the art would provide such "O-rings" or any other sealing arrangements to prevent such leakage.

4. Claim 6 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Bohrer in view of Araki (5,369,795).

The subject matter of the rejection not found in this rejection can be viewed in the prior office action.

Conclusion

5. The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure. Gehman et al. (6,591,674) teaches a flow meter having two housing portions sealed together with an O-ring (39).
